

- INDIA'S FIRST FOOD + GAMING QSR

Eat. Play. Repeat.

The premium vegetarian QSR and gaming café built to become India's No.1 youth destination — 100 stores, then 1,000.

Retail is no longer about products. It's about time.

The winning venues of this decade don't sell transactions — they sell hours. Gen Z doesn't ask "what should I buy?" They ask "where should we go?" PLAYPLATE is built to be the answer.

₹6 L Cr

India's experience economy by 2030 —
the fastest-growing consumer category.

2× dwell

Experience-led venues hold customers twice as long as traditional QSR.

Gen Z

377M strong in India — the largest youth market on earth.

Where does Gen Z actually want to hang out?

Every existing option fails on at least one dimension. Nobody has combined them.

01 Malls are losing Gen Z

Footfall is shifting online. Malls need magnets that pull youth back — not another apparel store.

02 Food courts are boring

Interchangeable counters, plastic trays, zero reason to linger or return.

03 Restaurants don't create memories

You eat, you pay, you leave. No shared moment worth posting or coming back for.

04 Gaming cafés serve bad food

Great rigs, terrible menus. Instant noodles and cola can't anchor a premium visit.

Four massive waves, converging at one table.

1 brand

sits at the intersection

Nobody owns food + gaming + community at premium scale. Yet.

Two of India's largest, fastest-growing consumer markets — food and gaming — have never been combined into a single premium, scalable format. That white space is the opportunity.

PLAYPLATE: one space where you eat, play, and belong.

A premium 100% vegetarian QSR fused with a full gaming arena. Order ₹399 of great food, and your gaming is on us. Food pays the bills; gaming builds the habit.

A model competitors structurally can't copy.

Food economics stand alone

Gaming is the magnet, but the P&L works on food margins. We're not subsidising a business that can't pay for itself.

The ₹399 unlock

Free gaming is gated behind a food spend — driving AOV up while making gaming feel free. A mechanic pure cafés can't run.

Built-in repeat loop

Leaderboards, memberships, and events turn a one-time visit into a weekly habit. Eat. Play. Repeat — literally.

Operator DNA

Led by a 23-year QSR veteran who scaled Domino's North India to 300+ stores. We know unit economics cold.

Food-first. Gaming-driven. Multi-stream.

A single visit monetises across food, gaming, membership, and events — while the free-gaming unlock keeps average ticket high and margins protected.
